

Public Hearing May Decide Fate of Gasoline Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A public hearing tonight may decide the fate of proposed gasoline tax and auto license tag increases in the Arkansas Legislature.

The Senate yesterday received an amendment to exempt automobiles from a proposed one-cent per gallon hike in the state's gasoline tax. But Sen. J. Lee Bearden of Tenchville succeeded in holding an action pending tonight's scheduled hearings on highway revenue bills.

The amendment, which also would exempt construction equipment from the one-cent hike, was introduced by Sen. Artie Gregory of Little Rock.

The original bill, which also increases the tax on special fuels and boosts license tags three dollars per year, was proposed by the Legislature by the state highway commission in its quest for an additional seven million dollars to be used in matching available federal funds.

While the Senate discussed this tax matter, the House argued for more than an hour whether it should approve a special seven-member commission to study economy in government and submit its findings to the 161 General Assembly.

In the end, opponents of the proposal won, 41-50, with 51 votes needed for approval.

The "Little Hoover" commission idea was proposed by Rep. Harry Croxon of Benton County, who created the first situation in which the House has refused to limit debate.

Rep. W. L. Ward of Lee County described the economy study idea as "the most progressive piece of legislation submitted to the House this session." But opponents, led by Rep. John Bethel of Prairie County, said the bill indicated lack of faith in the state's elected officials.

In another major action, the House left it up to the Senate and Gov. Orval E. Faubus to say how much of a tax break Arkansas would get in computing their state income tax returns.

Way Cleared to Build River Bridge

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The way was cleared yesterday for the building of a bridge over the Arkansas River at Helena.

The formal acceptance by the Arkansas Highway Commission of the proposed multi-million dollar bridge was held at Helena.

The formal acceptance by the Arkansas Highway Commission of the proposed multi-million dollar bridge was held at Helena.

A state Highway Department spokesman said the contracts will be sent to the successful bidders Monday and work orders will be issued soon after the contracts are signed and returned, something which must be done within 10 days.

The commission's bond-sale agreement was with the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, which submitted the only bid for the seven million dollars worth of bonds.

Previously, the agency had agreed to buy the bonds at a 4 percent interest rate, provided no equal or more favorable bid was received from a commercial bidder at yesterday's opening.

The bond sale will permit execution of more than nine million dollars worth of construction contracts, which have been held up since last November until financing arrangements were completed.

Total cost of the bridge is expected to be 12½ million dollars at a one time estimate was about 14½ million dollars. The low construction bid received at the Nov. 25 letting made it possible to lower the figure.

The bonds will be repaid from tolls on the bridge, which will connect Helena and Friar's Point. Miss. First bonds will mature in 1964 and the last in 1989.

Present for yesterday's bid opening were a delegation from Helena: Roy C. Adams of Tupelo, Miss., chairman of the Mississippi Highway Commission and Tom C. Robbins, Mississippi highway director.

Besides the bond issue, federal and state funds from Arkansas and Mississippi will be used to help pay for the bridge.

Big 3 Auto Makers Plan a Small Car

By DAVID J. WILKIE
A. P. Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have a smaller automobile definitely in their planning for the 1960 model year.

Each already has one or more of the shorter wheelbase vehicles through the styling and engineering stages.

None of the "big three" of the auto industry will admit U. S. production of the smaller cars has been decided upon. Neither will they deny it. Trade circles generally believe only a collapse of the small car market could now change the GM, Ford and Chrysler planning. There is no present indication of a falling off in the smaller car market, dominated largely by imported units.

General Motors admits only that it is continuing to study the smaller car market. That statement was in the GM annual report made public today. Ford and Chrysler are withholding any comment.

Sources close to the car industry said that GM probably will be first out with its 1960 model, shorter wheelbase model, that Ford will present its entry late in November or early in December and Chrysler at about the same time.

The New York Times said today that Ford already is definitely committed to production of the smaller automobile, that production dies have been ordered and that pilot plant tests for the final assembly line are under way. The paper added the new smaller car would sell for less than 2,000.

A spokesman for Ford said that it has made no statement to the effect that it is going to build a small car, either the Ford or the Edsel.

The probable entry of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler into the smaller car field with vehicles produced in this country has been discussed for more than a year. The gossip and speculation got impetus from the unprecedented growth of demand for smaller imported vehicles and for American Motors' Rambler models.

Accused Kidnaper Held for Jury

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP)—An accused kidnaper was bound yesterday to the Pointsett County Grand Jury after a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Hal Strickland.

The defendant, Earl Vernon Needham, 34, of St. Louis, already has been charged with kidnapping, burglary and grand larceny in connection with the abduction of a baby sister and a young girl.

Condition of Gen. Marshall Serious

By CHARLES L. WEST
F. T. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, 78, was in serious but not critical condition today, physicians said, after a second mild stroke complicated the stroke he suffered a month ago.

Col. George M. Powell, who is attending the World War II Army chief of staff, said Marshall never rose two degrees above normal during the night, but was one degree above this morning.

The 10 a. m. medical bulletin from Womack Army Hospital said the former secretary of state and secretary of defense still was conscious and his blood pressure and pulse still were weak, it added that during the night there was a slight extension of the pneumonia condition in the base of the left lung, and the general was being given increased doses of penicillin.

Reassessment Program Has House Trouble

By JOHN R. STARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Last summer, Sen. Jack Shelton of Monticello predicted that the property reassessment program would provide the major fireworks in the 1959 Legislature.

Today, as chairman of the Legislature's Joint Committee on Reassessment, he is embroiled in the controversy he predicted.

"I wish I could say where we stand now," Shelton said. "The committee has been hearing a series of witnesses on all phases of the problem, but we haven't had time to scratch the surface of the basic issue."

Pressed for a personal opinion of the status of reassessment, Shelton said: "Well, I'd say right now the program is in its greatest jeopardy. It may change by the end of the week, but that's the way I see it now."

What specter has risen to haunt the reassessment program, which was launched amid great optimism by the 1955 Legislature?

"It's boiled down to this," Shelton said. "In many cases reassessment has resulted in a tax increase. A huge tax increase in a few places. The people are sick of taxes and the threat of more."

The theory behind reassessment, equalization of the tax load, was sound, Shelton said. "But an adjustment of millages, so as not to raise taxes, except where they were inequitable, was a necessity to success of the program," he added.

But Shelton is in sympathy with school districts which did not lower millages.

"The school boards are caught in the chain of indecision over the program. You wouldn't sell your house because you think it has terrible value, you'd wait to be sure school districts run a risk of being caught short of funds if they lower millages and the reassessment program is knocked out."

The Legislature won time to work out the reassessment problem by extending the deadline after which counties which had not raised assessments to 18 per cent would lose a portion of state school funds. The new deadline is Dec. 31, 1959. As of now, less than two thirds of the state's 75 counties have met provisions of the law.

Unyielding opposition to the program is coming from legislators who represent counties which have not complied with the law. Many home counties have increased assessments, often at great expense, are just as determined to keep the program. And they aren't at all happy that their constituents are paying taxes on higher assessments while other counties lag behind.

White Students Keep Away at Virginia School

By ED YOUNG

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP)—Classes began today for 22 Negro pupils in the newly reopened Warren County High School, integrated in theory but segregated in fact.

The 22 were the only pupils to appear at the previously all-white school of 1,000.

Less than a dozen townspeople gathered at the school this morning, but there was no disturbance. Policemen still patrolled the area. The Negro children arrived in buses as they had Wednesday to register.

School officials said they were convinced no white pupils would enroll.

The white children are either attending classes being operated by a private foundation, or have gone to other schools.

The school had been closed since September under state anti-integration laws. Nearly 800 white pupils have been attending private classes.

Until Wednesday the county had no high school for Negroes.

Principal James H. Duff said, "Practically all courses the students require will be offered" despite the small registration.

There will be no extracurricular activities, however, unless more pupils enroll. The school cafeteria will be closed.

A white faculty of 10 will teach at the 40-classroom high school.

Probe Into Jukebox Gang Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate probes take a look today at what they call underworld muscle used in the jukebox and pinball machine business in Chicago suburban areas.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the special Labor-Management Committee, predicted the evidence would follow a pattern somewhat similar to that in the just-completed hearings on coin machine operations in New York and Brooklyn. Testimony focused on alleged gangster-labor union complicity and terrorism.

In the Chicago phase, he said, the union involved in the hearings is Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, headed by Michael (Umbrella) Boyle, in New York, it was Teamsters Union Local 266, headed by Joseph De Grandis.

The committee wound up its hearings on New York coin machine racketeering yesterday with testimony that a group of jukebox operators loaned millions of dollars to New York racketeers at interest rates up to 108 per cent.

Irving Mishel, a convicted swindler, testified he was a silent partner of jukebox operator Charles Bernoff in what he termed "shylocking" loans. Mishel said they amounted to "many, many millions" to men engaged in prostitution, narcotics and gambling rackets.

Bernoff invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions.

The committee later questioned James R. Hoffa, international Teamsters Union president, behind closed doors but refused to disclose what the quizzing had covered, so did Hoffa.

Space Program to Be Stepped Up by U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government unveiled spending plans today for a space program that will include half a dozen rocket shots into outer space and launching of an inflatable communications satellite twice the width of a basketball court.

These are among 105 million dollars of projected 1959 spending for which contract awards were announced by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Included in this year's spending plans is 17 million dollars earmarked for equipment for orbital manned space flight—a goal not expected to be achieved this year.

Other major awards for 1959 projects included:

1. $8,000,000 to the Air Force for deep space probes—shots toward Venus and other planets.
2. $7,120,000 to the Air Force for Thor-Able rocket boosters to launch satellites and $8,540,000 to the Army for Juno II satellite boosters.
3. 2,110,000 to the Army, two million to the Air Force and $200,000 to the Navy for moon probe projects in addition to the five previously taken over from the Defense Department.
4. 2,150,000 to the Army Ordnance Missile Command for launching a 100-foot inflatable sphere to be used as a communications satellite.
5. 5,231,000 to the Office of Naval Research for the Vanguard II weather eye satellite launched Tuesday and for three remaining satellite launches.
6. $1,900,000 to the Atomic Energy Commission for its program to develop a nuclear rocket engine.

NASA said 10 million dollars will be spent this year on its 102-million-dollar contract to develop a million-pound thrust single-chamber rocket engine. This contract, announced previously, was awarded to the Rocketdyne Division of North American Aviation, Inc.

Rep. Reed of New York Dies at Age of 83

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Daniel Alden Reed (D-NY) died today of a heart attack. The 83-year-old congressional veteran was stricken at Walter Reed Army Hospital where he had been under treatment for 14 weeks for an infected foot.

As ranking Republican and former chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, Reed was known best as an advocate of protective tariffs to fend off competition from foreign goods.

After greeting one another, the two presidents reviewed a military guard of honor composed of Mexico's presidential guards.

Agreement on Cyprus Signed by 3 Nations

By GARVEN HUGHES
LONDON (AP)—An agreement ending four years of bloodshed on Cyprus was signed today by the British, Turkish and Greek governments.

Turkish Foreign Minister Faik Zorlu, in announcing the compact, said there had been no compromise and no last-minute concessions to Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot negotiators.

The Mediterranean island will become independent, with Greek and Turkish leadership and with Britain retaining rights to its important military bases there.

A session of nearly two hours was held today following a similar session Wednesday night. Zorlu represented Turkey in absence of Premier Adnan Menderes, still confined to the hospital after a plane crash.

The other participants were Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain and Premier Constantine Karamanlis of Greece with their top aides.

Premiers Karamanlis and Menderes shaped up the agreement in recent meetings at Zurich and brought it to Britain for approval.

Marine to Have Big Problem as Civilian

CERRY POINT, N. C. (AP)—"The Corps has been my life," was a big problem today for Matthew C. McKeon, whose career as a Marine survived the Paris Island, S. C., "death march" case.

McKeon, who soon will be a civilian, said Wednesday he had no idea what he will do after he takes off his uniform.

"The Corps has been my life," said the 34-year-old McKeon. "I have received a medical discharge because of a back ailment."

"I hate to leave the Corps," said the former-drill-sergeant who led a group of recruits on a training march into a tidal creek at the Parris Island recruit depot the night of April 8, 1956, six days after the Corps. He has been stationed here since November 1956, when he finished a three-month term for negligent homicide after a court-martial conviction.

A physical evaluation board recommended McKeon's discharge because of a "ruptured intervertebral disc." The secretary of the Navy directed his discharge. The date has not been announced.

Businessmen Look Closer at Economy

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — With the first quarter of 1959 at the half way mark many businessmen are taking a more cautious look at the economy today than a few months back.

Recovery in the durable goods industries has been slower than some first hoped. Output here still lags some 5 per cent behind its precession pace.

Bad weather and some crippling strikes have played a part in holding output back.

Unemployment stays stubbornly high.

Here, too, caution is seen by some as playing a big role. Factory managements have lengthened work weeks rather than take on new workers.

This can be traced in part to caution in adding workers to payrolls subject to a host of fringe benefits.

But if business tends to proceed cautiously now, few industrialists are out and out pessimists. On the contrary, most look for gradually improving business during the first half of 1959 and see a good chance of a marked turnup in activity either at the end of this year or at the start of a new one.

For one thing, they count on consumers going on spending freely.

For another, businessmen look to business itself to increase its own spending. Part of this has already started. In the case of inventories on the rise again after months of trimming.

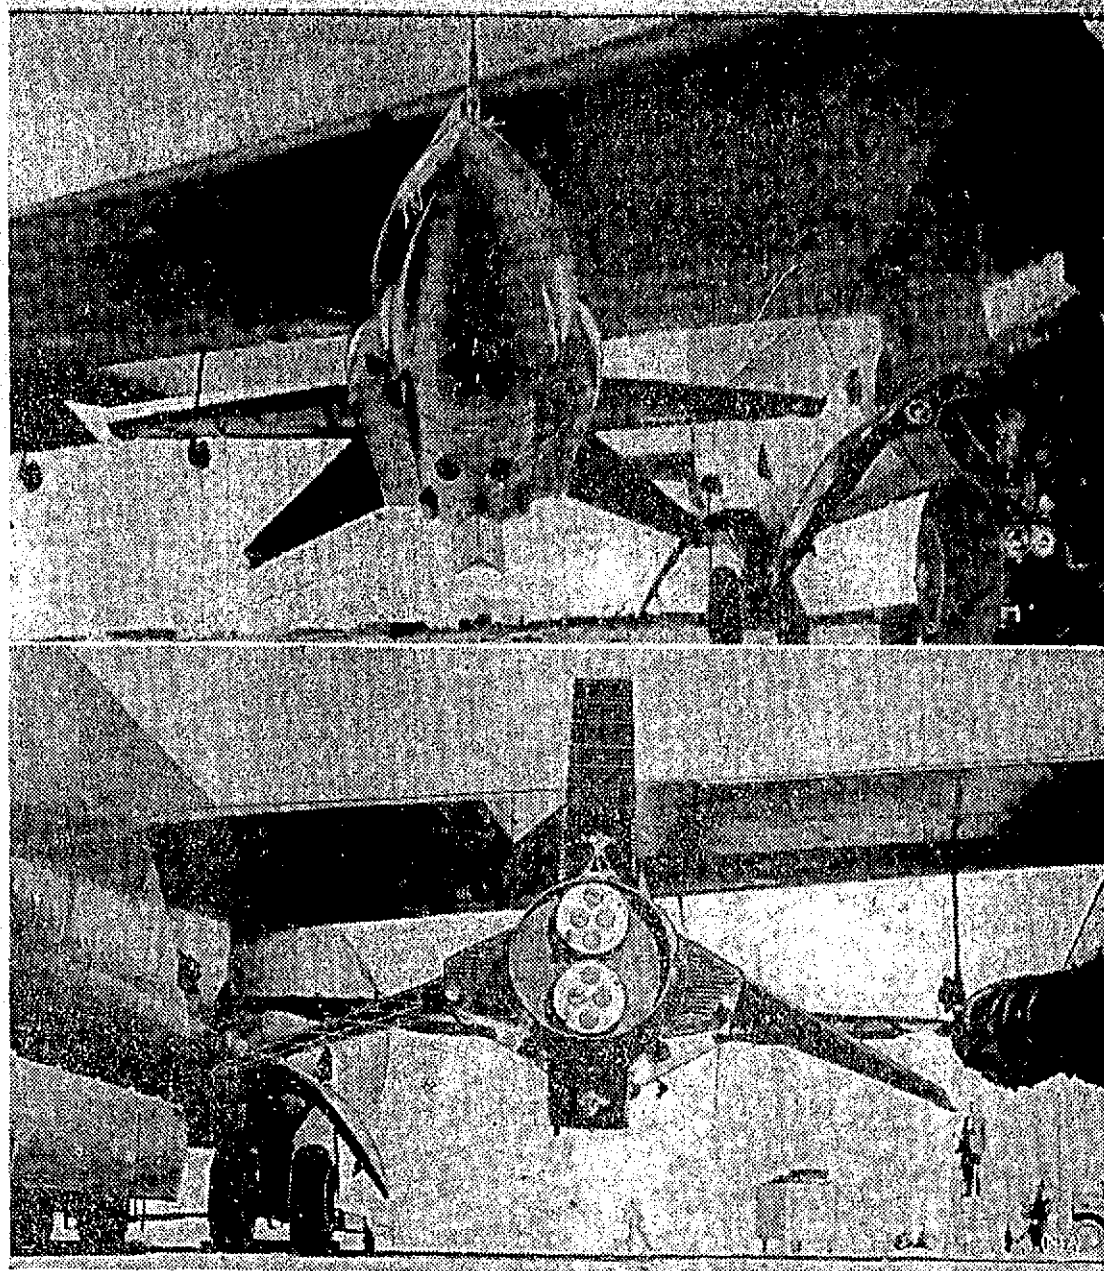

Steel mills in particular are profiting. Much of their increased output is being consumed.

Business spending for new plants and equipment seems less likely to rise soon.

But if durable goods industries are reviving at a dignified pace, nondurable goods and the services go right along commanding more of the consumers' dollars.

Output of soft goods, such as clothing and foods, has climbed to a new high, or 137 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Each year families spend more for services, whether for medical

Top and bottom photos show front and rear views respectively. The rocket ship—first to try to put a man into space for a short interval—will be fueled with nitrogen and liquid oxygen through quick disconnect lines in the carrying frame. Two TV cameras on board the B-52 mother ship will observe the X-15 and its pilot leading up to the drop. The X-15 will be loosed at about 38,000 feet, where its own powerful rockets will take over. Cam Reeves turned to Yeager. "What about Jed," he asked gravely.

"I'm taking him to town, so that Doc Parris can see to it that he has a decent burial," Yeager said.

"Did you do any good against that combine crowd?"

"Some," Yeager said somberly. "Mitch Stark and one other for certain. There might have been more, out in the dark."

"What are you going to do, now?"

"What I should have done in the first place. Cut off the head instead of the tail."

As Cam Reeves blinked trying to figure this out, a soft, clear call came from the ranchhouse porch.

"Gil! Come here, please."

It was Laurie Benedict, slim

ical bills or transportation or the repair of household gadgets.

Construction continues to be a bright star of the recovery. New homes are being started in near record volume.

Most of all this adds up to a pleasant picture. It's just that the ardor with which some were predicting a new boom starting this spring is tending to change to caution.

and anxious and robed in beauty as a shift of clean-washed morning sunlight struck up a glow all about her.

He moved up to her slowly, a little stiffly, as though burdened with a spiritual as well as a physical weariness. Standing beside her he looked at her with grave absorption. He spoke as though voicing a thought aloud.

"It's hard to believe that the same world can hold a loveliness such as yours, and at the same time the kind of ugliness that moved through the dark just past, Laurie."

She met his glance mistily, and dropped a hand on his arm.

"You had a bad night of it, didn't you, Gil?" Youve had so many bad nights of it, over the past year. And this the worst of all?

"It was—bad," he nodded.

She asked the same question Cam Reeves had. "What will you do now, Gil?"

Unconsciously his tone hardened. I'm looking up certain people.

Her feminine intuition was sharp, her wisdom deep. She shivered. "Not now, Gil. Think it over. Stay here with us until you've had time to—"

No! The word burst from him harshly. "There'll be no more friends of mine shot up because of me. This I handle alone!"

Her hand tightened on his arm, refer the bill to committee for "Please, Gil. There must be other ways than—than what I know you're thinking of."

He shook his head. "I held wet that idea, once. And all it ever got me was more and heavier beatings. So, I know the one answer, now. It comes pretty close to being what Johnny Hook told me the first night of my return. Either I have to leave this prairie for good—or somebody else does. And I don't intend to leave!"

He patted her hand, turned away, tramped back to his horse and went into the saddle.

Cam Reeves, waiting, said, "Hold up until I dress a horse and I'll ride with you."

"No you won't, Yeager told him. "Understand, I appreciate the thought, but your place is right here on Long B, to help Burke in case Bastian and his crowd go completely savage. That is, before I can get at Bastian."

Fully understanding now what Yeager was about, Cam tried to argue. "Alone, you won't stand a chance. How you going to get at Bastian with his outfit all around him? You'll just get yourself killed, and what good will that do?"

"There's always a time and a place and a way," Yeager said, staring straight ahead, as though already visualizing those three necessary elements. "Also, maybe Bastians hand isn't as strong as it seems. Maybe some of those combine riders don't like the going when it gets too rough. Last night, outside of Mitch Stark and one other, they didn't appear anxious to get too close. Maybe the idea of dying for $40 a month isn't exactly popular with them."

Klint Hyatt made sober survey of the town. Over opposite, Patch Kelly was opening his store for the day's business, while down at Johnny Hook's establishment two freight outfits were making up.

Aside from such small activity the street was empty. For some little time Klint Hyatt stood held in somber thought as he measured the probabilities of the day ahead. He would, he finally decided, wait until noon or a little after for Ollie to show, and if his man didn't appear by that time, he'd go looking for him. This decision arrived at, Hyatt tramped along to the courthouse and his office.

Johnny Hook, having seen the stage away, gave some last minute instructions to the skippers of the two freight outfits, and when these had lumbered off, heavy and creaking, made for the Elite, eager for morning coffee and breakfast. He offered greeting to Doc Parris and took place at the table across from him.

They traded idle talk and were on their second cup of coffee when hoofs beat a muffled mutter along the wet street. Shortly a rider came clanking in, a hatchet-faced combine and by name of Trip Rogers. He had the sunken-eyed, mentally battered look of one who had spent a hard night with no sleep. He ordered a cup of coffee and stood at the counter gulping it. Then he turned to Doc Parris.

"You're wanted out at headquarters, Doc. One of the boys is jammed up a little."

"What's the matter with him, Doc demanded.

Trip Rogers hesitated slightly. "He's got a smashed shoulder."

"How did he get it—fall off a horse?"

"No," came the reluctant up-

Proclamation

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of, by and for farm boys who are studying vocational agriculture in the public high schools of the nation. A local chapter of this fine organization is active in the Hope High School.

As America's future farmers, these young men hold in their minds and hands the progress that this community and this nation may make in the years to come, because a prosperous and productive agriculture is the very foundation of our American standard of living.

As students of vocational agriculture in high schools they study the scientific, economic and mechanical aspects of modern farming. As members of the Future Farmers of America they learn through active participation how to conduct and take part in public meetings; to speak in public; to market farm products; to solve their own problems; to finance themselves and to assume civic responsibility.

The population of America and of the world is undergoing tremendous growth. At the same time, in this nation the number of farmers is decreasing. Despite the great abundance of agricultural products today, it is vital to our future happiness and security that we maintain a supply of skilled farmers and other agricultural workers to assure that there always will be plenty of farm products to supply our needs. Future Farmers of America are training for this important work. It is fitting that we honor them.

I, therefore, join with others throughout the nation in proclaiming Feb. 21 to 28, 1959, to be Future Farmers of America Week. I urge all people of this community to become acquainted with and give full support to the program of vocational education in agriculture, and to its students, the Future Farmers of America. As the basic agricultural producers, they are our first line of defense against the hunger and privation that we know is prevalent over much of the world today.

Specialists Called in to Examine Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three more medical specialists were called into consultation today on the treatment of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who is suffering with cancer at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Two of the consultants, summoned by Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Walter Reed commandant, are surgeons—but an announcement through the State Department said no further surgery is contemplated.

The recurrence of cancer was disclosed in an operation Friday for repair of a hernia. A cancerous section of the secretary's lower bowel had been removed in 1956.

A cancer specialist from the National Cancer Institute here had been called into the case shortly after Friday's surgery.

Dulles "spent a comfortable night," the State Department announced today.

"His spirits are high, said press officer Lincoln White. "All visual signs are normal (pulse, temperature, blood pressure. He continues to sit up morning and afternoon."

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A 50-foot radar tower designed to spot tornadoes up to 200 miles away is expected to be ready for use here by the end of March.

A Weather Bureau official says the tower, to be erected at the municipal airport, should be able to detect the speed and direction

 At present, no decision is permitted.
 Then, at the request of Rep. Paul Gilliam of Lawrence County, the House approved his bill, which would allow a deduction of up to $400.
 It now apparently is up to the Senate to say which of the bills will get to the governor's desk.
 The House also trimmed state highway revenues as estimated $450,000 per year when it voted to allow a deduction of a two percent credit on taxes due the state to compensate for shrinkage or leakage of fuel.
 One new bill introduced in the House by Rep. Mrs. Mattie Hackett of Lafayette County, would appropriate $16 million dollars to be paid to counties for construction and maintenance of homes for aged people.

 "The quickest and easiest way to kill reassessment would be to block the appropriation for the Reassessment Co-ordination Division," he said. "This could be done with only eight votes in the Senate."

Doctor Says Herter Is Not Handicapped
 BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe today quoted Christian Herter's physician as saying the arthritis from which the acting secretary of state suffers does not handicap him in any way.
 Dr. Theodore B. Bayles is quoted as saying Herter's arthritis is the "weak and tear" osteoarthritis, mostly suffered by older and 25 in the House.
 "So you see, we have a real problem. We have to ally the fears of opponents of the law to a point where they will pass this appropriation. Without it, reassessment is dead, even if we devise some miracle cure."
 Present bills probably will not play a great role in the reassessment fight, Shelton's committee plans to draft its own bills, after its study of the problem is completed. The Legislature is expected to follow the recommendations of the joint committee.
 "We'll plug a lot of loopholes, such as utility, chemical, which have caused a lot of discontent," Shelton said. "But whether we come up with a program acceptable to everyone, I don't know. That might take a magicians."
 Shelton said a lot of objections to the program could be removed to the county level within the next two years.

 Karam said hundreds of cards came back with the one word "rebuffed" often in the space where the committee asked for suggestions on how the integration problem might be solved.
 Karam said the Interfacial Committee would tabulate results of its two polls and present them to the Little Rock School Board soon.
 The sat. office survey was conducted by personal interview and by a newspaper advertisement in which readers were asked to answer the questions and mail their responses to the committee.

Doctor Says Herter Is Not Handicapped
 BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe today quoted Christian Herter's physician as saying the arthritis from which the acting secretary of state suffers does not handicap him in any way.
 Dr. Theodore B. Bayles is quoted as saying Herter's arthritis is the "weak and tear" osteoarthritis, mostly suffered by older and 25 in the House.
 "So you see, we have a real problem. We have to ally the fears of opponents of the law to a point where they will pass this appropriation. Without it, reassessment is dead, even if we devise some miracle cure."
 Present bills probably will not play a great role in the reassessment fight, Shelton's committee plans to draft its own bills, after its study of the problem is completed. The Legislature is expected to follow the recommendations of the joint committee.
 "We'll plug a lot of loopholes, such as utility, chemical, which have caused a lot of discontent," Shelton said. "But whether we come up with a program acceptable to everyone, I don't know. That might take a magicians."
 Shelton said a lot of objections to the program could be removed to the county level within the next two years.

North Carolina Is Best in the Coast League

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer
North Carolina is the proven class of Atlantic Coast Conference basketball but the Tar Heels still have to go through two more weeks of "Russian roulette," before they can attempt another national championship.

Russian roulette is Coach Frank McGuire's term for an ACC system that junks a full season of competition and orders a post season tournament to determine the conference representative in the National Collegiate championships.

With an 11-0 conference slate, owned by the Tar Heels after Wednesday night's 74-67 victory over arch rival North Carolina State, most teams could start firming plans for the NCAA. Especially with only three second division teams still to be met during the regular season and runner-up N.C. State ineligible because of NCAA probation.

But McGuire and the Tar Heels will have to keep spinning the cylinder and hope that luck does not run out during the ACC tournament at Raleigh March 5-7. The jittery bystander is the NCAA itself which would like to have the team currently rated the nation's best in the Associated Press poll, North Carolina, (17-1) nailed its

Hope Girls Trip Nashville in Gurdon Tourney

Hope's Senior girls advanced in the tournament at Gurdon last night with a 47 to 42 victory over the Nashville girls. The local Junior boys were ousted by a 39 to 26 loss to Arkadelphia.

Judy Rateliff tossed in 27 points for the Hope team, making 10 for the first half. Nashville's Young tossed in 31. Hope was behind 12 to 12 at the end of the first quarter but held a 23 to 20 halftime lead. The score was 32 to 31 for the local ladies at the end of three.

Nashville pulled to within one point with two minutes to go. But Vines and Rateliff came through with clutch shots to lead the game. England made 10 for Hope as did Vines.

The Junior boys trailed at the end of one quarter 12 to 4, but Roberts got to hitting and had tied the score 14-11 by halftime. At the end of three Hope trailed 28 to 22 and Arkadelphia increased the margin. Roberts made 12 for Hope and Hooten 7. Kanard and Storker made 12 and 15 respectively for Arkadelphia.

Arkadelphia will meet the winner of the Gurdon-Nashville game at 8:30 Thursday. The Hope girls will meet Prescott at 8 p. m. Friday in the semifinals.

Watkins Still Leads District in Scoring

Hope's David Watkins has a 20 point lead over his nearest rival in the 44A senior individual scoring race through games of Saturday, Feb. 14. He has 160 points while his nearest rival, Sam Barker of Smackover has 140 points. Johnny Graves of Hope is in 8th place with 108 points.

In the junior standings Fairview leads with a 7-1 record, followed by Arkadelphia 8-2; Smackover 5-3 and Hope 5-4 in that order. Crossett, Magnolia and Camden fill out the other spots in that order.

second clutch decision over State by sinking 26 of 30 free throws in a feature of a class-packed Wednesday program. In other big wins, Eastern Kentucky wrapped up the Ohio Valley Conference and an NCAA berth with a 72-70 victory over Western Kentucky; Kentucky kept in the Southeastern chase with a revenge 83-71 triumph over Vanderbilt; Texas Christian moved closer to the Southwest Conference title in a 68-64 decision over Rice, and West Virginia — which also plays a tournament to get into a tournament — battered Pitt 90-69.

Tournament "hop-of-fools" St. Joseph's (Pa.), LaSalle, Navy and St. Francis (Pa.) were again, and NIT entries Villanova and Fordham fattened their records.

St. Joseph's routed Bucknell 87-64. LaSalle walloped Albright 83-62. Navy whined Georgetown (DC) 72-47 and St. Francis topped Steubenville, one of the small school powers of the Midwest, 74-68.

Villanova shot its record to 17-4 in a 67-54 romp over Buffalo and Fordham, which joined the NIT field earlier in the day, celebrated with a 66-62 decision over Canisius.

Army, having one of its better years, downed Williams 93-77 and Air Force won its fifth straight, 77-62 over Creighton.

Sick Baseball Players Share the Spotlight

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball's hospital patients shared the spotlight today with the latest contract signs and pending holdouts.

Red Schoendienst, Milwaukee second baseman, and Bill Rigney, San Francisco manager, who are hospitalized, were joined Wednesday by Lindy McDaniel, St. Louis Cardinals pit-infielder.

McDaniel underwent an emergency appendectomy in Meriden, Miss. He is expected to join the Cardinals in St. Petersburg, Fla., next week.

Schoendienst, who has tuberculosis, is expected to undergo surgery today for removal of a small diseased portion of his lung. His physician said, "We are optimistic about Red's chances of playing in 1960."

Rigney is recovering rapidly from injuries received in an automobile accident. Giants President Horace Stoneham talked with Rigney by phone from Phoenix, Ariz., and reported, "It looks like he will be out of the hospital Friday and could be here Monday for the official opening of spring training."

In Kansas City, outfielder Bob Cerv, who played with a wired jaw for several months last season, and Athletics' General Manager, Parke "Carroll" Carroll, reached a deal today in their salary talks. It is believed that Cerv is asking for $30,000, double the amount offered him.

"Mr. Carroll left future talks up to me," said Cerv, who hit 38 homers and had a .305 batting average. "He said 'go home and think about it.' As far as I'm concerned I've thought plenty about it."

The new lights are modern and produce a day light effect. The light fixtures are decorative and add much to the beauty of the building. The lights will add much to the comfort and efficiency of the working force in the office. The electrical work is being done by Marvin D. Cunningham.

Refreshments in the Valentine motif were served from the dining table covered with a white net cloth with a ruffled skirt decorated with red hearts. A crystal bowl filled with red carnations formed the centerpiece.

Since it was Friday the 13th the plates were numbered and Mrs. Charles Arnold won a prize for having the 13th plate.

Yankees contract squabble was again in the news. The star outfielder said he won't go into spring training without signing his contract.

George Weiss did manage to get in some productive effort. He signed Don Larsen, the no-hit pitcher of the 1956 World Series, for an estimated $18,000. Also coming to terms with the world champions were first baseman Marv Throneberry and Frank Leja.

Rhode Island, the nation's smallest state, has the shortest motto. It's "Hope."

GOP Insists on Changes in Labor Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called today for a unit of blacklists, picketing and secondary boycotts in any labor legislation Congress passes.

He contended that is an important part of any effort to deal comprehensively with labor-management abuses.

Eisenhower's news conference statement reinforced an earlier prediction by Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) that the administration will insist that the Taft-Hartley law changes as part of any law aimed to curb labor abuses.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell are backing solidly an effort to get Congress to act on a single package measure based on the President's 20-point program.

"If the Labor Committee doesn't report out a bill including all of the President's proposals, we will offer them as amendments when the Senate takes up the measure," Dirksen said.

Dirksen described as impractical the Senate's announced willingness to go along with Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) on a two-bill approach, with union-management curbs considered in one measure and controversial changes in the Taft-Hartley Act in another.

Mitchell himself could not be reached for comment on Dirksen's statement. A Labor Department spokesman said the department had no comment.

Mitchell issued a statement last week saying he would not oppose the two-package approach provided both halves of it were passed during the session.

Dirksen contended there is no assurance two bills would be passed.

"The only way it could be done would be to have an iron-clad agreement that the second bill would be considered and acted upon," Dirksen said. "That kind of an agreement is difficult to get and I'm afraid we would have trouble lifting a second bill before the Senate."

Eisenhower's program, aimed primarily at safeguarding workers' funds and their rights as union members, is broader in scope than the somewhat similar proposals of Kennedy and Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.).

Among other things, Eisenhower asked for revision of the Taft-Hartley Act to bar secondary boycotts and "blackmail picketing" designed to force workers into a union.

Neither of these provisions is included in the Kennedy-Ervin bill, although it would make some Taft-Hartley law changes sought by organized labor. Union leaders say they will not support the measure without these.

Kennedy has said he wants to wait for a report of a 12-member panel of experts before offering a bill to revise the disputed Taft-Hartley provisions.

Debbie Seeks $40,000 Yearly From Eddie

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Debbie Reynolds, Calif. (AP)—Actress Debbie Reynolds, without shedding a tear, today divorced singer Eddie Fisher on testimony that they should be interested in another woman.

A source close to the principals disclosed those details of the property settlement signed within the last week. Under terms of the agreement, the 26-year-old actress will get custody of Carrie, Francis, 2, and Todd Emanuel, 1, with reasonable visitation rights for Fisher.

Fisher will not appear in court to contest the suit.

That could mean that the name of Elizabeth Taylor will not be mentioned in Debbie's testimony. In her suit, Debbie accused Fisher of extreme cruelty but made no mention of Miss Taylor.

That was an anti-climax to the sensational charges Debbie hurled last year at the raven-haired star.

Miss Reynolds charged then that her marriage had been happy until her husband consorted with the young widow of showman Mike Todd with a tour of New York nightclubs.

Fisher and Miss Taylor are constant companions now.

Actress Elizabeth Taylor, linked romantically with Fisher, was not mentioned by name.

Debbie was on the stand in Superior Court for only a few brief moments.

She said she filed for divorce because her husband asked her to.

She replied calmly and affirmatively to her lawyer's question: "Did this (the divorce request) cause you grievous mental suffering?"

New Mexico House Rejects Message

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—A message of congratulations from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Herbert Lehman was rejected by the New Mexico House of Representatives.

The telegram from the two representatives of the National Council for Industrial Peace, congratulated the State Legislature for its action in killing right-to-work constitutional amendments in both houses.

When Albert Matlock, a Clovis Democrat, said "The scores had more or less healed and they have been opened again by this message."

Another Democrat, Rep. Flin Heide of Lea County, moved that the message be rejected. It carried by a voice vote without a single dissent.

TCU Needs a Game to Win SWC Title

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Might Texas Christian, just one game away from clinching the Southwest Conference basketball title, looked today toward Texas, the league's soft touch TCU plays Saturday at Austin.

TCU fought off a determined Rice last night at Fort Worth to take a 68-64 victory. It was the Horned Frogs' 10th conference victory against one defeat and left TCU two and one-half games ahead of second place Southern Methodist.

Air Force to Make a Target of Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The planet Venus will be the target for two Air Force satellites in June.

Informed sources said Wednesday the probes will be attempted with two-stage Atlas and Thor missiles.

The shooting dates will come midway through June when the earth and Venus are in the best position for the launching.

Atlas-Able, which later will be the carrier for reconnaissance satellites weighing several tons, will be a two-stage vehicle using the powerful Atlas ICBM as the booster.

Thor-Able, using the Air Force's intermediate range ballistic missile as the first stage, already has been launched several times with varying degrees of success.

One of the shots probably will be an attempt to circle Venus with a satellite while the other probe may be fired past the planet into outer space, it was learned.

Rice hit fieldgoals at a 40.4 per cent shooting average last night twice creeping to within one point of TCU and at two other times trailing by only two points in the second half.

The Owls' last serious challenge came when Tom Robitaille sank a layup and TCU's lead was down to two points, 54-52.

But the Horned Frogs then broke loose and raced to a 68 to 56 advantage with 1:45 left.

TCU grabbed 57 rounds to 37 for the Owls. TCU got a 338 field goal average.

E. Kiehnner of TCU and David Craig of Rice tied for scoring honors with 18 each.

Confident of Preventing a Shooting War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — In spite of talk about a shooting war over Berlin, U.S. officials expressed confidence today that a conflict can be avoided by diplomatic negotiation.

There is considerable belief in high quarters here, however, that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may try to substitute a summit conference for the foreign ministers meeting proposed this week by the Western powers.

Some U.S. authorities expect that Khrushchev will issue a call for a heads of government session to be held in the near future.

There is some speculation that he would like to get a conference before Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is well enough to attend. Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders have often denounced Dulles and sometimes contend they could not do business with him.

Dulles is hospitalized for an indefinite period, recovering from a hernia operation and preparing to undergo treatment of cancer.

Present indications are that the United States, Britain and France would be prepared to go into a summit meeting only if it were preceded by a foreign ministers conference in which there was substantial progress toward East-West agreement on outstanding German problems, including Berlin.

The Soviet government has said that it intends to turn over its occupation authority in East Berlin to the East German Communist government. The Western powers do not recognize this regime and have so far refused to do business with it. They therefore anticipate difficulties if the East Germans try to exercise control over their access routes from West Germany to Berlin.

But what officials are counting

Alabama Bill Hits at Rights Group

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama legislators in a defiant slap at the U.S. Civil Rights Commission have passed and sent to the governor a bill to keep voter registration records away from the agency's investigators.

House members, angry over the agency's recent inquiry into Negro voting complaints in Alabama, passed the bill Wednesday with little opposition or debate. The Senate gave the measure unanimous approval a week ago.

Gov. John Patterson has promised to sign the bill, which authorizes county registrars to destroy questionnaires of rejected voter applicants.

The questionnaires, which the Civil Rights Agency finally had to get a federal court order to see in three counties, now may be thrown away after the 30-day limit during which unsuccessful applicants may appeal to court.
